

Call for Participation

RoboComp'2010

April 23-25, 2010

ENIS - Tunisia

Objective:

The RoboComp'2010 is a Robotics Competition organized by the IEEE Robotic and Automation Society (RAS) Tunisia Chapter, in order to bring together researchers and robotics specialists working on mobile robotics and biped robots.

This event will be held in Tunisia at the National School of Engineers of Sfax. The goal of this event is to evaluate contributions in robotics control for classical and widespread problems.

The competition contains the four Tracks below:

- Innovation in robotics building
- Wheeled robots for line following
- Wheeled robots for obstacle avoidance
- Biped robots for a walking race

More details are available on the competition website:

<http://ewh.ieee.org/r8/tunisia/ras/robocomp/>

Registration:

Teams wishing to participate have to register by email at <ras.tn@ieee.org> by February 28, 2010. The participating teams may be composed by a head team and 2 or 3 members. The head team has to supervise his team members during the competition. However, team can be composed by one member.
